OLD GLENLIVET.

THIS WHISKY is a blend from some of the most noted Distilleries in Scotland, and is guaranteed to consist of PURE MALT SPIRIT only. It is thoroughly matured, very mellow, and entirely free from any smoky or objectionable flavour.

As large holders of the different kinds from which the Blend is made, we are in a position to allow the various Distillings to become thoroughly amalgamated before being bottled, an advantage which consumers of the article will readily appreciate.

TREACHER & Co. feel that it would be an insult to the intelligence of their Constituents to put forward Chemical Analysis and Medical Reports regarding this "Fine Old Spirit," as, however, gratifying these may be in themselves, they are obviously useless as affording a guarantee, that the Spirit offered, is the same as that commented upon.

TREACHER & Co. consider that the proper test of excellence of any article, consists in the demand for it, and judged by that standard, the fact, that, the sale of their "Fine Old Glenlivet" has increased more than tenfold during the past three years, and continues monthly to increase, may be accepted as conclusive proof of its character and value.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

SATURDAY EVENING, JAN. 31, 1880.

CONSOLS remain unchanged at 98⅛ French Rentes at 117, and Enfaced Rupee Paper at 78 for Fours and 85½ for Fours-and-a-half.

Oriental Bank shares are 10s. higher. Mercantile 10s. lower since Wednesday at £22 and £21 10 respectively.

The General Produce markets show little movement. Coffee and Cocoanut Oil are unaltered. Linseed is steady at previous prices; Rapeseed flat and 6d. to 1s. per quarter lower.

Piece Goods in Manchester continue firm at former rates.

The Liverpool Cotton market yesterday closed firm at unchanged prices, the sales being 8,000, of which 700 bales were Surats; and to-day's market Reuter reports strong, Surats steady, sales 10,000 bales, including 1,000 Surats. Spot quotations are unaltered with the exception of an advance of 1-16d. in American, and private telegrams report the closing tone as quiet but steady. In New York ready Mid. Uplands advanced yesterday from 12¼ to 12 13-16 and to-day to 12¾, while April shipment, which was quoted on Thursday at 13·27, advanced yesterday to 13·46 and to-day to 13·53 cents per lb. This be speaks a steady if not a firm market in Liverpool on Monday, and, indeed, if the receipts at the ports continue as they have begun it is highly probable prices of Americans, at least, will for a time go still higher. In Surats we do not think there is the same room for a rise, the present level being fancy prices based on a Liverpool stock of only 18,000 bales, but they must, nevertheless, participate in any upward movement to some extent. Operators, however, will do well to remember that in working at present values they run the risk of a very material fall should the American receipts at any time show a sudden increase; and even if the figures lose 100,000 bales during the current month, it is very questionable whether prices will stand the largely increased supplies which must shortly become available from this side.

We subjoin our usual weekly comparison of the statistical position of the staple in Europe, with the corresponding date on the two previous years. The total visible supply, it will be observed, has increased by 40,000 during the week, while the stock in Liverpool has only increased by 2,000 bales, the trade and export having taken 71,000 bales against an import of 73,000.

The American Crop figures to date afford the under-noted comparisons. The actual excess over last season is now 464,000 bales, and we are still of opinion that the tendency points to a total crop of 5,350,000 to 5,400,000 bales.

Bar Silver in London Reuter reports unchanged at 52 9-16d. per oz., equivalent to about Rs. 8 5-32d. per rupee.

EXCHANGE.—Owing, we believe, to reports of considerable shipments of Silver from China, the market this morning opened weak with a decline of 1-32d. per rupee all round, and for a time a further fall seemed probable. Calcutta telegrams, however, showing greater firmness than here a slightly steadier feeling has been apparent at the close. We quote :—

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Bank Bills, on demand ..... | 1s. 8 7-32d. | per Rs. |
| Do. 3 months' sight... | 1s. 8 11-32d. | " |
| Credits 3 " ... | 1s. 8 15-32d. | " |
| Documents 3 " ... | 1s. 8 17-32d. | " |
| Francs 3 " ... | 2.15 | " |

On Calcutta we still quote demand drafts at 1-16 per cent. premium, 60 days' sight nominal.

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—A good demand still prevails for Fours at Rs. 93, but Fours-and-a-half are quiet at Rs. 101⅛.

SHARES have been quiet to-day with very little doing, but rates are nevertheless firm and tending upwards. Bank of Bombays are unchanged at Rs. 690. Colaba Land are Rs. 5 higher at Rs. 955. Press Companies are unaltered. In Spinning and Weaving Mill shares we note an advance of Rs. 5 in Bombay United, Great Eastern and Jewraz Balloo. Bombay Burmah Trading Co.'s shares are Rs. 20 lower.

COTTON to-day has been very firm at an advance of Rs. 2 to Rs. 3 per candy. A large business was done in the bazar last night, and a considerable quantity has changed hands to-day, mostly Broach and Dhollera for which the demand is decidedly more active than for Omrawuttee. One reason for this, in addition to the superior quality anticipated, is the greater facility for speculation which the later arrival of these growths afford, and a very large number of current transactions must be purely speculative from the fact that prices at home, as a general rule, are from ¼d. to ½d. below our values. This discrepancy, however, will probably disappear before long as supplies here are rapidly increasing the receipts for the past two days being 10,00 bales.

SEEDS.—Linseed is in active request at Rs. 6-6 to Rs. 6 7 ready, and Rs. 6-7½ for future delivery. Gingelly is unchanged. Rapeseed dull and neglected.

FREIGHTS for Liverpool have been rendered decidedly firmer to-day by a report of the S. S. Rathmore being lost, and rates have advanced to 32s. 6d. for measurement. Marseilles and Genoa rates are very firmly supported at 42s. 6d. to 45s., and for Trieste and Venice 42s. 6d., payable here, is the quotation. In sailing ship freights there is absolutely nothing doing either for Liverpool or forward, and no cover as a vessel discharged than she is ordered away in ballast.

PIECE GOODS are quiet in the bazaar, the daily clearances being only estimated at 250 to 300 packages, but prices are firm, dealers being unable to replace in Manchester at present prices here.

COALS in the absence of sellers continue very firm to arrive, but on the spot supplies are more than ample for present requirements.

The Bombay Gazette

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1880.

PROFESSOR WORDSWORTH, in a letter which we reproduce in another column, criticises our article on Dr. Hunter's fiscal proposals, and takes up so singular a position with regard to certain vexed questions of economic science, that it is well to give it particular attention. The Professor has fallen into a slight error in stating that we "expressed regret", that the doctrine of free trade was losing ground. We did not express any feeling of our own on the subject, but merely gave what we believe to be the popular feeling at home, as an explanation of the readiness with which the doctrine of reciprocity was for a time accepted by a considerable class, which included no less an authority than Lord Salisbury. As international exhibitions were supposed to usher in an era of universal peace and good will among men, so the Cobden Treaty between England and France was supposed to be the herald of many similar treaties, which would bring the nations nearer and nearer to the acceptance of free trade pure and simple. But wars have been more frequent and more bloody than ever before, and have been, besides, not only the concomitant but the cause of a reaction from free trade to protectionist principles. In thorough disgust at this course of events, a section of the British people were temporarily carried away by the idea that they might do better by bartering the advantages they give other countries by their free trade principles. But, as we attempted to show, the idea was soon found to be impracticable in operation, as well as vicious in theory.

These views of ours have drawn forth the letter in question. Professor Wordsworth's, opinions always command the highest respect, and the most careful attention, but he has taken what seems to us to be untenable ground. To make use of an American simile—which, like many Americanisms, is gradually making its way into England—the Professor has attempted to construct an economic platform for himself, in which he may have one plank of free trade and another of protection. He admits free trade in theory, he admits protection in practice; but in these admissions he is at one with the most confirmed protectionists, and would be feted by the mill-owners of Massachusetts or the iron masters of Pennsylvania. No protectionist denies that free trade is acceptable in theory under certain supposed circumstances; they all readily admit this, but they do deny that it is of universal application, and here the Professor is with them. The point on which they might disagree would be as to where to "draw the line"; in other words, as to the time and the degree, at and in which, the "qualified introduction of free trade" should be admitted as regards any one country. Mr. Wordsworth says that he "thinks that our own Colonies and the United States would have done better if they had had more confidence in themselves, * * * but that the circumstances of Italy are different." But if free trade is only applicable according to circumstances, who are the best judges of the circumstances? Must they not be those on the spot? If, as our critic says, "The circumstances of nations differ so widely that it is difficult to believe that the same fiscal rules can be applied to all of them," and if "in many old countries its (free trade) sudden introduction has been attended with great evils," should it not be left to those living in those countries, and thoroughly aware of all the circumstances, to decide as to the applicability of free trade practice—the theory is admitted—to themselves, either in whole or in part? For instance, the Professor says, "It is hardly surprising that Italian economists and statesmen are alike satisfied that, in a poor and heavily burdened country, it is not desirable to allow the existing industrial systems to be completely disorganized, by competition with countries which start with such enormous relative advantages as England and the United States." But against this the American would contend, that the United States are, as to industrial systems, as unable to compete with England, as Italy is unable to compete with the United States; that if free trade is of qualified application, the difference of circumstances between England and the United States cannot be ignored, any more than that between the United States and Italy. All admit that free trade suits England; let us admit for argument's sake that it does not suit Italy. Where can we draw the line between these two? If we admit that Italy cannot compete with the United States on free trade ground, how can we insist that the United States or the Colonies can compete with England? The Professor seems to think that free trade is not applicable to old poor countries, but he gives no reason why it should be applicable to young poor countries; and once admitting his principle, that "the circumstances of nations differ so widely, that it is difficult to believe that the same fiscal rules can be applied to all of them," and you take the substance out of free trade, no matter whether you call it a principle, or a truth, or a verity, or a science; it remains a shadow, a theory, something desirable under certain circumstances, but to be rejected by any nation which does not find herself in those circumstances. He would be a very bigoted protectionist who would object to so liberal an economic creed as this which Professor Wordsworth lays down.

But what is "qualified free trade?" Does not the expression involve a contradiction in terms? It seems to us like qualified slavery, or qualified truth. The Professor tells us that political economy is a science, and that "the object of science is truth, not practice; and when a science has enriched us with a truth or truths it has done all that it can or ought to do." But what is the use of a truth if it cannot be put into practice? Indeed, how can we know that it is a truth? Can we believe it merely on the assertion of one who tells us, at the same time, that it won't work in practice? What is truth? The question is, we are aware, as old as Pilate, but the definition given by the late George H. Lewes is applicable to the present subject. It is this: "Truth is the correspondence between the order of ideas and the order of phenomena, so that the one becomes a reflection of the other, the movement of thought following the movement of things;" but, according to our critic's view, truth relates to the order of ideas irrespective of phenomena, and he considers it the "work of a pedant" to expect that there shall be any necessary correspondence between the order of ideas and the order of phenomena, or that thought and things shall move in harmony. Science tells us much that is beyond the personal experience of individuals, and this must be accepted on trust; but it seems hardly reasonable to ask us to accept as a truth, in regard to a science which does come within the practical knowledge of each individual, a theory which is admittedly unsustained in practice, indeed, declared to be unsuited to practice.

The Professor tells us "the doctrine of free trade is a scientific doctrine, and it can, therefore, only be overthrown by showing that the facts from which it has been generalized are not really facts, or that the process of generalization and deduction has been incorrectly performed." We reply "not so." No theory can pass for truth and science which fails to bring us to the promised goal. We cannot allow the political economist to shirk his responsibility so easily: the onus probandi rests with him. It is enough for us that the result of his theory, when tried, is quite different from what he had anticipated and we had been promised; it is for him to search for the false ground he started from or for any mistakes in his journey. Theorists would have an easy time of it if such a preposterous claim were admitted. "Science is but the codification of experience," and how, then, can it be ignored in practice? Again, who will care to overthrow a doctrine so long as it is admitted that its application is a matter of circumstances, and when no attempt is made to define those circumstances? If this be the position of political economy, then we must agree with Carlyle in calling its teachers, the "dreary professors of a dismal science." No; one cannot consistently be a free trader in theory, and a protectionist in practice. Montgredien says—"One thing is certain: there can be no compromise between the two systems. Either the one or the other must be irretrievably bad; and it is almost impossible to adopt the one without totally discarding the other. The fiscal measures requisite to carry out protection are in diametrical opposition to those called for by free trade." Professor Wordsworth must either abandon his claim to be considered a free trader in principle, or he must abandon protection in practice.

WILD Baboos are often to be found gamboling with the English language in the columns of the Indian Mirror, but the fury of a Baboo who appeared in this arena on the 21st inst., disporting himself in an article on Sir Henry Daly and a great many other people he disapproved of, was delightful and entertaining beyond any thing that former frolics could have led us to expect. We have never before seen a Baboo so rough on the English language; we should have deemed it impossible for any one to play such havoc with the grammar, the idiom and the spelling of an inoffensive tongue had we been merely told of it by an eye-witness; but the atrocity, the outrage, is before us. The insulted, the ravished, the plundered sentences are shuffling along sadly and blindly under our eyes. Definite articles are stalking about searching for something to lean against; subjects divorced from their predicates are creeping away with shame written on their brows; objects that have no verbs and no purpose of any kind are trying to hide themselves in the shade of hollow adjectives. A tin pot thunder, and the trampling of wild asses are heard above the hurly-burly; streaks of lurid nonsense play wildly over the rack of drifting words. The Indian Mirror is a Bengali paper; and Bengali papers do sometimes lurk in dark grammatical corners and pilfer particles; but we thought that wild excesses like those of the 21st inst. were only committed on the death of an editor, or during an eclipse of the moon. "It may be true," says the Baboo, trembling under the afflatus, "that the Bengalis may have raised the Cashmere antipathy and might have succumbed to the dark intrigue of Cashmere design; but we see no reason why one section when they are looked upon with jaundiced eye by the other influential one should not get one and be unpartially patronige (sic) by an administrator they both honestly serve. This question very much strikes us in speaking of the social part of the administration of Sir Henry Daly and remains to us quite as incomprehensible and as inscrutable as one of the unknown ways of Providence. * * * The Bengalis despite of what the Pioneer says at random are the pioneers of the Indian civilization and carries (sic) progress and civilization wherever they go. * * * * * * We do not complain that no Bengali has had the honor of the Indian nighthood conferred upon him in Central India because he is a Bengali, but what we wish to say is that while in a Cashmere (sic), who is equally as good an alien as a Bengali is, the order of the Indian Empire is conferred for good services, why a similar token of similar distinction has not been conferred on a Bengali for the similar kind of services." Poor Baboo, poor Baboo, you are a noble animal; but in the words of your countryman, "you will not always do so."

BEFORE setting out for the frontier Sir Richard Temple telegraphed home for permission to utilise the Crocodile trooship, daily expected at Bombay with troops, for the conveyance of some of the reinforcements now designated for the seat of war to Kurrachee. The requisite permission has been accorded, and the Crocodile will, on the 5th instant, proceed to the Scinde port with the 7th Royal Fusiliers, four companies of the 11th Regiment, two batteries of artillery and about a thousand followers. This operation will effect a considerable saving of time, and will, besides, save a considerable outlay on the chartering of commercial steamers which were apparently on the point of being taken up for the conveyance of the troops in question to Kurrachee. It will, however, detain the men whom the Crocodile is to take back to England a fortnight or three weeks longer in India.

AMONG the bigger public works now under construction at Bhaunagar is a steam chain ferry which, we learn by telegram, was opened with due ceremony last Saturday. It is, we believe, the only work of the kind in this Presidency.

ECHOES FROM CALCUTTA.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

YESTERDAY (Wednesday) was formed the Volunteer Camp of Exercise at Kanchrapara, and for some days previously our hardy warriors might have been observed putting themselves into a state of preparation for the perils and vicissitudes of war. One gallant soldier, who had much to say on his capabilities with regard to "roughing it," began that proceeding by despatching a grand piano to the scene of action; and another, who is universally acknowledged to have "done the State some service"—by selling out of the army—performed the military manœuvre of providing himself with a warming-pan and an umbrella, in case of accidents. Three others were known to have signed the "pledge" immediately before leaving, and to have broken it before they had quite reached their destination; and, in short, such warlike proceedings had not been heard of in this peaceful city for many a day: not since the occasion when one of our vigilant defenders exhibited his zeal for the public service by sending a bullet through a tame pig and stoutly refusing to pay any damages whatsoever. A court-martial was to have been held on the offending member, but the dignity of that august tribunal was somewhat marred by the criminal in question voting it a "bore," and refusing to attend. It is surprising that more bullets do not find their way into softer butts than those provided for them at the ranges; for the distances are so situated that it is impossible for two parties to be practising at, for instance, five hundred yards and at two hundred, respectively, without rendering it a certainty that a bullet from the farther range must necessarily pass through the cranium of the gentleman at the nearer one in course of transit, for the simple reason that the aforesaid cranium exactly covers the bull's-eye.

THE theatres are closing as the south wind is beginning to spring up in gusts, and the Circus and Dave Carson are now nearly alone in the field. Miss Victoria Cooke, who lately reappeared with a flourish, not only of trumpets, but also of her right leg over her head while careering madly round the arena, continues to enjoy unbounded popularity. It has not yet been rumoured that another medal is in course of preparation; but it may be worthy of remark that the Viceregal patronage has not been bestowed on the Circus during the present season.

* * *

THE Opera, which like a meteor, but without its brilliancy, "glimmered for a moment," is, unlike that celestial phenomenon, anything but "gone." The enterprising Dave has taken it under his protecting wings with a view, no doubt, to produce a happy combination of sublimity and absurdity. The "Bengalee Babu," set to the air of A chi la morte with variations on the banjo, would have a very striking effect.

* * *

THE subject of theatres naturally suggests the "religious" demonstrations lately made by Dr. Thorburn and the Stiggins and Chadband portion of the community. The energetic Doctor is now retiring from the scene of his labours for a time, but "though lost to sight, to memory dear," will be the thought of many a member of his congregation, as he sighs and puts his hand into his pocket to feel for the rupee that is gone. The less demonstrative citizens of Calcutta have of late been occasionally startled by the sudden apparition of a triumphal procession :—flags, banners, and a trumpet; texts and mottoes of a scriptural character inscribed on the former, and no less an individual than the reverend gentleman himself making the gathering night hideous by producing a series of ghastly sounds on the latter.

* * *

THE menagerie of the ex-King of Oudh was open on the 17th to gentlemen on the Government House list, on the condition that they left their umbrellas at home, since his ex-majesty considered it in some manner (which is best known to himself) a personal insult for anyone to appear in his presence with an umbrella. The ex-King called up the two reporters who were present, and intimated that he expected them to ventilate his grievances in the papers. His grievances may be summed up in the single fact that he considers one lac of rupees a month too small a sum to compensate him for the onerous duties of his position; and his ex-majesty hinted that unless the amount was shortly increased he had serious thoughts of resigning his post under Government, in which case, of course, the country would go to the dogs.

* * *

A MEETING of the Municipal Commissioners was held the other day, at which, as usual, there was a great deal to be said on every possible subject, but (also as usual) nothing whatever to be done. One gentleman hinted that certain tanks in a crowded part of the town were in a very filthy condition; but another gentleman immediately arose, with indignation flashing from his eagle eye, and flatly contradicted the assertion, at the same time strongly insinuating that the honourable member who had last spoken was an egregious ass. He was on the point of proceeding to prove the last position, when he was somewhat warmly interrupted by the honourable member in question, who intimated, in a long and brilliant speech, that he was in a position to state that the other honourable member was neither more nor less than a raving lunatic. The proceedings had arrived at this satisfactory point, when the chairman mildly ventured to remind the disputants that they had both slightly wandered from the subject under consideration. But by this time they had both forgotten what it had been; and as neither the chairman nor anyone else could enlighten them, they were under the necessity of introducing a fresh topic. Changes in the names of streets was the subject next introduced. The question was put whether a certain lane in a romantic quarter which had hitherto borne the poetical name of "Peeroo Mehter ka Gully" would at all suffer in reputation by having to bear the less high-sounding cognomen of "Colquhoun Street." The suggestion was a signal for everyone to rise at the same time and to begin indulging in vituperative language across the table at each other; and the meeting finally broke up without any definite conclusions having been arrived at.

* * *

THE Financial Department have not yet issued any resolution on the subject of permanently locating the Government of India offices at Simla, but they are shortly expected to do so. The move is likely to cause a great deal of dissatisfaction amongst a large class, and the Government are not so popular that they can afford to throw away the good opinion of any one. It is true that the carrying out of the idea will involve a saving—but only as far as the private purses of the Secretaries are concerned. One of these ethereal beings was asked the other day how the proposed location at Simla would affect him; his reply was suggestive—"In Calcutta I pay half as much more for house-rent during the four months that I am here, than I do for the whole twelve months in the year at Simla. In Calcutta, I am obliged to support my position by keeping carriages and horses, and so forth; in Simla I go about in a jampan." He might have added, for it would have been quite true, that in Calcutta he is obliged occasionally to give a dinner like a gentleman; whereas in Simla he has been known to send his jampanees down the khud in search of mushrooms—partly to save the expense of buying them in the bazaar, and partly in the fiendish hope that they would be sure to disagree with at least five or six of his guests, and so warn them off the premises in future. The Simla question is becoming a perfect scandal, and is sadly in need of a thorough ventilation.

GENERAL BRIGHT'S COLUMN IN THE LUGHMAN VALLEY.

CALCUTTA, JAN. 31.

General Bright has reached Futtehabad in the Lughman Valley without any casualty. A reconnaissance was made on the 29th and a good road was found. The camp moves on the 31st to better ground farther on. Fords will be thoroughly examined. The valley is very fertile, especially across the river in Lughman proper. Hamed Khan, brother of Asmatulla Khan, has come in, and all the people seem friendly. Forage is plentiful.

ARRIVAL OF MAHOMED HASSAN KHAN IN THE LOGAR VALLEY. GENERAL BRIGHT'S EXPEDITION.

CALCUTTA, FEB. 1.

From Kabul nothing of importance has been received for the last few days.

The line of communications is quiet since the defeat of the Mohmunds.

The telegraph line has been unmolested.

The leaders at Ghazni are doing their best to keep up the excitement and spread constant reports of an intended attack on our position, but there is no considerable collection of the enemy nearer than Ghazni.

There have been snow and rain at Kabul for the last two days.

The health of the troops is improving.

From Turkistan news has come from the Governor deputed there that Gholam Hyder's men who had occupied Saighan fort have surrendered to Naib Mahomed Rahim Khan who went on to Kalmund on the 27th. The Governor is going to Saighan on the 29th. He is hopeful of success, and considers Turkistan settled, Sultan Murad Khan, the powerful chief of Kundus, has offered assistance with a large force.

From Kohistan reports are satisfactory. Many of the leading Maliks are coming in to the Governor.

The report of Mahomed Hassan Khan's arrival at Charkh in Logar with three guns and two infantry regiments is confirmed. He is demanding revenue which the people refuse.

General Bright's expedition into Lughman is progressing satisfactorily. There is no opposition, and several headmen have come in to pay their respects. A telegraph line is being laid to his camp.

THE RECENT ATTACK ON A TEA GARDEN AT BALADHUN.

SILCHAR, JAN. 30.

No fresh news has been received during the day. Three wounded coolies reached the station. They and other people report the attack as most sudden. No doubt the raiders were Nagas. Rumours of attack on Jerighat have not been authenticated. The Deputy Commissioner has left for Baladhun.

A later telegram states that confidence was being restored and the villagers were returning to their villages. The Panjis found are declared to be Angamis. Five more dead coolies have been found.

SILCHAR, FEB. 1.

Reports from the Bahadhurs side and Pathecherra state that all is quiet. One more death in the dispensary is reported. The raiders are pronounced to be Angamis. Military guards have been placed at Lhailu, Kumbergram, Patticherra and Grabari gardens. Reports of further raiding are false.

KABUL INTELLIGENCE.

KABUL, VIA ALLAHABAD, JAN. 30.

Trustworthy news from Ghazni states that Mahomed Hassan Khan, the ex Governor of Jallalabad, has marched out with two or three regiments and some guns, and is now at Charkh, a few miles north of Ghazni, on the Kabul road. The Charkh village is the place where Mushki Alam lives. This movement has probably been made to incite the tribes to rise.

Nothing further has been heard about Gholam Hyder being near Bamian.

Shahbaz Khan, our Governor at Kohistan, has only got as far as Babakuchkar, but he has sent word that he starts immediately for Charikar.

It is not improbable that our garrison here will be strengthened soon by the arrival of the 51st Foot, 45th Sikhs and the 24th Punjab Infantry, as two cavalry regiments have left us, and the 5th Punjab Cavalry are also going

More infantry should certainly come up.

Hassan Khan, leaving his force at Charkh, has reached Barakira in Logar near Kushi. Tahir Khan is with him. Both men are making strenuous efforts to rouse the Logaris in that quarter.

Mahomed Jan's whereabouts is not known.

THE KANDAHAR FRAUD CASE.

KURRACHEE, JAN 31

An unauthenticated rumour is current here that the Kandahar Fraud Case has broken down, and that Cowasjee Rustomjee has got off scot-free.

MOVEMENT OF TROOPS.

KURRACHEE, JAN. 31.

The 66th Regiment leaves Kurrachee for the front on the 3rd February. Its depot will be stationed here.

The 28th Regiment has left for Jacobabad.

MR. J. M. MACLEAN and Mrs. Maclean were passengers for Suez by the mail steamer which left Bombay on Saturday last. A large number of European and native friends as well as all the employes of the Bombay Gazette establishment had assembled at the Apollo Bunder to bid Mr. Maclean a hearty farewell. Bouquets of flowers were presented to Mr. and Mrs. Maclean before they left in a steam launch for the mail steamer.

WE have received a copy of Dr. W. J. Moore's Manual of Family Medicine for India, published under the authority of the Government of India. This useful work has now reached its third edition, and its value is considerably enhanced by the addition of brief accounts of various ailments not mentioned in the first and second edition.

THE promptitude and united action with which the appeal, says the Bombay Review, on behalf of the distressed peasantry of Ireland has been met in the presidency towns of India (albeit Calcutta has not yet spoken definitely) may, as Sir Richard Temple said at the Town Hall on Thursday, be justly regarded as evincing a "generous, loyal, and grateful spirit" prevalent amongst the Indian community generally. Perhaps His Excellency did not so much appreciate, as we do, the reference made by Mr. Mahomed Ali Rogay to the efforts of two or three Irish members of the House of Commons on behalf of India. This movement will in various ways serve to remind us how much India owes to Irishmen, from the Wellesleys to Lord Mayo, and may help to brush aside the miasma of the "Home Rule" agitation by evoking the sentiment that we have a United Empire as well as a United Kingdom. In Bombay we have to thank the movement for bringing out Admiral Gore Jones in his character as a civilian citizen, and for drawing our Health Officer out of his official routine and right into the current of public feeling. As to details, it is matter for congratulation that the committee appointed at the public meeting is left free to dispose of the funds according as fuller information may render expedient.

THE Madras Mail says that the Roman Catholic residents in Bangalore have been the first in this Presidency to send to Ireland a contribution in answer to the appeal from the Lord Mayor of Dublin on behalf of the sufferers from the distress in that country. On Sunday evening last after vespers a meeting was held in the new wing of the Roman Catholic Cathedral, Shoolay, when a subscription list was circulated. This appeal was not in vain; for by yesterday's mail £40 was transmitted by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Chevalier to the Lord Mayor's Famine Relief Fund, Dublin, as a first donation from the Roman Catholic residents in Bangalore. This promptitude is commendable; but the Catholic clergy elsewhere would do well to follow the excellent example of the very Rev. J. Colgan, who, rather than run the risk of breaking up the movement into sections, and so minimising its moral effect, deferred communicating on the subject with the priests throughout the Madras diocese until it had been decided what steps were to be taken by the community at large. There is no doubt, a strong temptation to communicate direct with the Lord Mayor, but it is a temptation which should be resisted in the interests of the movement itself, and not less so in the interests of the contributors. A Central Committee has been formed, and it is only right that all subscriptions from this Presidency should be forwarded through this committee. In connection with this subject we may mention that it has been decided to hold a public meeting in Bangalore, at as early a date as possible, and that Mr. Gordon, the Chief Commissioner, has been telegraphed to on the subject. Nor have the native gentlemen of Madras been slow to respond to the call addressed to them. It is, we believe, their desire to inaugurate a movement among the native community on a semi-independent footing; but as, in a matter of this kind, it is most desirable that all considerations of race and party should be excluded, we would suggest for their consideration whether their wishes would not be most effectually served by a few of their number joining the committee already formed. In any case, we do not doubt that when once they have succeeded in arousing the interest of the natives generally, they will amalgamate their effort with that initiated by the committee now in existence, and thus give the movement that appearance of unity which it is so desirable that it should present.

GENERAL O'CONNELL, Chairman to the Madras Irish Famine Relief Fund, has received from the Lord Mayor of Dublin the following telegram in answer to that despatched from Madras on Monday:—"Committee spent £10,000 in relief of pressing cases. Distress is overwhelming, and I dread that death by starvation to hundreds or thousands will follow."

THE Governor General in Council has declared that the observance of the Durga Puja holidays in the public offices in Calcutta shall continue as heretofore. H. E. "relies upon the Government of Bengal to take precautions in respect to the public offices subordinate to it, to reduce to a minimum the inconvenience and loss which the mercantile community must, in consequence of this determination, continue to bear, and which he trusts that they will not object to bear out of consideration for the interests and wishes of their numerous Hindu fellow citizens."

THE following was the field force at the Volunteer parade on Saturday afternoon:—"11 officers, 2 staff officers, 18 sergeants, 3 staff sergeants, and 32 rank and file. The band consisted of 1 sergeant, 1 corporal, and 25 privates.

OUR latest advices from Ghazni, says the Lahore paper, dated the 19th instant, report that the fighting which took place between the Hazaras and the troops of Mahomed Jan lasted eight days, and resulted in the defeat of the former and the destruction of eighteen of their forts by Mahomed Jan. We are informed that this chief was not present in person, and that his men were led by Golam Hyder Khan, Charkee. Mahomed Jan, however, has since joined his followers, leaving a nephew of Mustaphi Habibullah Khan, by name Wullee Mahomed, in command at Katamab. The citizens of Kabul have a rumour current among them that Ayub Khan has occupied Kandahar after defeating the British, and is now about to advance on Kabul. There is a report also current, but not generally believed, that the Shah of Persia having agreed to hold Herat, sent the orders to Ayub Khan to take Kandahar with instructions to move on Kabul subsequently. All the Hindu families remaining at Kabul after the last exodus were about to remove to Peshawur, but have been stopped by Wullee Mahomed Khan, the Governor. A heavy fall of snow occurred on the 17th January, and there were nine inches on the ground when our letters left.

THE special correspondent of the Pioneer, under date Kabul, the 28th January, sends the following telegram:—Tahir Khan, who is now at Ghazni with Musa Jan, has sent in a letter to Sir Frederick Roberts, saying that the Ghazni faction have resolved to fight to the death unless Yakub Khan be reinstated as chief. Mahomed Jan is supposed to be in Zurmut recruiting for his army. The meeting held at Ghazni is now said to have been a secret council of the Chiefs, at which Mushki Alam was not present. Rumours of all kinds are daily circulated, but nothing exact as to Mahomed Jan's intentions can be learned. The following estimate is perhaps as correct as any that can now be given. From Ghazni, which is a centre of discontent, urgent messages have been sent round to the Mullicks of the different tribes, known to bear no good will towards the British, asking them to induce all sepoys, once in the Amir's army, to enroll themselves again, and either to make for Ghazni or to hold themselves in readiness to join the ranks of the army, which it is promised shall appear on the Ghazni road advancing to attack Sherpur. Certain leaders are given districts in which to work on these lines; but as yet no gathering of importance has taken place. Great uneasiness undoubtedly exists among the tribesmen generally, but they lack unity of purpose, and have not yet recovered from the depression consequent on their failure to carry Sherpur by assault.

THE Allahabad paper says:—The patience of the authorities at the seat of war, in reconstructing their telegraphs as fast as they are cut, is beyond praise. They have beaten Bruce's spider all to nothing. But irresponsible critics cannot help wondering whether ingenuity, united to patience, might not circumvent the wire-cutters. Of course it is easier to put up a line of posts and an aerial wire than to dig a deep trench and lay down a subterranean cable. Still the resources of algebra might show that, eventually, the cost of an infinite number of aerial wires might exceed that of a telegraph underground, and there does not seem a shadow of a chance of success in educating the Afghan mind up to a respect for telegraphs that are left unprotected in mid air.

MAJOR ST. JOHN will leave Kandahar as soon as Major Euan Smith arrives there, if not before, and will proceed to Astrabad by India and Persia. It seems a misdirection of force, says the Pioneer, to put away such a man in an out-of-the-way corner of the world, when India is so much in need of trustworthy Political Agents.

THE Calcutta Gazette announces that the Right Hon'ble the Secretary of State for India has granted Mr. C. F. Magrath, C.S., an extension of furlough for three months and twenty-six days.

THE Persian correspondent of the Lahore paper, writing under date Kabul, 17th instant, says that Mir Buchs from Kho-i-Damun left for Ghazni on the 14th, to have an interview with Mahomed Jan. This latter sirdar has gone out to Katawah in the Ghilzai country with a view to excite the Ghazis of that part to join him. Mahomed Sirdar Khan and Meer Abdul Kadir Khan have issued orders to the people of Kohistan, forbidding them to send any supplies into the British camp at Kabul. Golam Hyder Khan, the Governor of Balkh, has issued an address to the people of Kohistan, informing them that he is about to advance on Kabul with a force of 12 regiments of infantry and 12,000 horse, accompanied by Morad Khan, son of the chief of Kundus, to attack the British, when he expects that all true Mahomedans will join him and show their loyalty to the descendant of Dost Mahomed Khan. The principal Khans of the Panjsheri tribe have exerted themselves in Kohistan to foment enmity to the British and have urged them to obey the orders received from Balkh. These Khans are said to be now at a village in Koh-i-Damun and to be collecting men and supplies. Twenty-five Hindu families left Kabul for Peshawur on the 12th, fearing another rising of the Ghazis in the city. The Mustaphi Habibullah is now acting as Lieutenant-Governor of Kabul under Walli Mahomed.

THE Lahore paper hears that Colonel Hogg, assistant to Sir Michael Kennedy for transport work, will shortly return to Bombay to take up his appointment of Quartermaster-General; and that his place on Sir Michael Kennedy's staff will be taken by Captain Collen, assistant secretary, military department.

THE Civil and Military Gazette says:—Our London correspondent has alluded to the probability that the present Under-Secretary of State for India will succeed Lord Lytton; and judging from the reports we hear from other quarters we should be inclined to regard the appointment as certain—if only the present ministry should live long enough.

LIEUTENANT MCINNIS, Adjutant of the 9th Lancers, and Lieutenant Murray, Adjutant of the 72nd Highlanders, are now on their way from Cabul to Sealkote to clothe and equip drafts of men for their respective regiments. No two regiments have suffered so severely in the campaign, and the drafts will be very welcome. The 72nd can still muster over 600 men fit for service in spite of their losses at Charasiab on October 6th and the Asmai heights on December 14th, and with the draft of 180 men now at Sealkote they will be nearly 800 strong.

THE Englishman is informed that Mr. J. K. Spence, of the Bombay Civil Service, has been appointed in the place of the late Mr. T. W. Gribble. Mr. Spence officiated for some time as Post Master General of Bombay, and assumed charge of his new office on Thursday last.

MR. D. R. LYALL, the Magistrate of Howrah, succeeds Mr. Monro as Inspector General. Mr. A. Forbes acts as Magistrate of Howrah.

THE directors of the Bank of Bengal at their meeting on Thursday last made no alteration in the rates of interest or discount.

MR. C. L. TUPPER will act, the Pioneer says, temporarily, as Secretary to the Punjab Government, in the room of Mr. Lepel Griffin. Mr. E. Stack will remain for the present with the Government of India, as Mr. Lyall, the permanent Under-Secretary in the Home Department, will act as Secretary to the Chief Commissioner of Assam, on his return from furlough.

LIEUT.-COL. LOWE has taken over charge of the Transport Service at Cabul, Colonel Mark Heathcote having been appointed road commandant under Colonel Hugh Gough, V.C., C.B., in charge of the whole line of communications from Jumrood to Sherpur.

WITH reference to the vast proportion of rejections of transport animals at the depot at Jhelum, the Civil and Military Gazette is informed that by purchasing the more distant sources of supply has been most reckless. Head, tail, and four legs appear to have been considered the only necessary qualifications for a beast of burden in the eyes of many purchasing officers. Of all the animals, the ponies from Benares and Cawnpore enjoy the pre-eminence of wretchedness; flat-sided, long-legged creatures with hooks rubbing against each other at each step; foals not a year old; mares in foal; every sort of beast which the most casual observer would at once reject for transport purposes—of such are the animals crowded up to Jhelum by hundreds. The veterinary authorities are very properly firm in rejecting all ponies under three years old, and we understand that Sir M. Kennedy has resolved to accept none in future under four. We are glad to be informed that in spite of all the rejections there are now at Jhelum about a thousand really serviceable animals ready to start and fully equipped for the front; the only difficulty being to find an officer available to take charge of them. It is worthy of note that a considerable number of ponies find their way to the good market at Jhelum from Cashmere. This is all very well for the transport service, but can hardly be advantageous to the valley once called "happy" and now perhaps the scene of more utter misery than any other place on earth.

MR. T. ROBSON, Professor at the Calcutta College, has been granted the authorised donation of Rs. 1,000 for high proficiency in Bengali.

HIS HIGHNESS the Maharaja of Darbhanga, accompanied by Major Money, has arrived in Calcutta, and will, we understand, give a ball to the Viceroy and Lady Lytton this week.

MR. C. A. ELLIOTT will, the Pioneer says, probably be appointed Imperial Commissioner to supervise the operations of the next census. Mr. W. C. Plowden was talked about for this duty, and the motive for the present arrangement is not apparent on the surface, as Mr. Elliott's abilities might, one would have thought, have found a more congenial sphere of operations.

IN some parts of Bengal just now the weather is unseasonably warm. According to the Pioneer the weekly report from Balasore states that the days are warm, "and the nights not so cold as they should be." In Singbhoom "the weather has become very warm at this time of year." Lastly, in the 24-Pergunnahs, "the weather has set in before its time." The district officers are evidently getting irritated.

THE eldest son of Colonel Chesney, R. E., the Principal of Cooper's Hill College, has, we hear, joined the editorial staff of the Pioneer.

THE Pattialla Durbar has decided to make an attempt to open the Kalka coalfield. A European gentleman of experience has been appointed to superintend the necessary works.

THE Madras Mail, describing the progress made in the construction of the local harbour works, says that the north pier is now 2,462 feet in length from the commencement of the blocks, or 3,262 feet, say, 1,087 yards from the shore. It is being added to at the rate of 30 feet a week. The last 172 feet of block work is built on a curve southward of 528 feet radius. The rubble-base is almost complete to the end of the curve southwards, and there can be little doubt that this pier will be finished before the next north-east monsoon. The length of the south pier is 1,877 feet from the commencement of the blocks, or 2,577 feet (859 yards) from the shore. The blocks are now being laid down at this pier at the rate of 50 feet a week. The rubble base extends 630 feet beyond the blocks, and the curve to the north has just been commenced. Altogether, the rate at which work is now going on at the harbour works has never been equalled before. Each railway is bringing down five trains of stone a day or a supply of over 2,000 tons. The amount of blockwork laid at both piers since the 1st of the present month is 256½ lineal feet. When Sir Andrew Clarke visited Madras in February, 1878, he seems to have prognosticated that if the Government did not stop the work, the silt would. What must be this gallant officer's surprise now to find that the north pier has advanced nearly 2,000 feet and the south pier over 1,600 feet further into the sea, without any of those symptoms of silt having manifested themselves which Sir Andrew conjured up in imagination? There can be little doubt, we think, that Mr. Parkes has demonstrated that the silt difficulty was exaggerated. When the harbour is finished there seems little doubt that by lowering, lengthening, and widening the old pier a little, it will be possible to bring large steamers alongside it, where they will be able to land or ship cargo in the most expeditious way possible.

THE late fire at Hakodate was one of the most serious that has ever occurred in Japan. The damage done is estimated to reach three millions of yen. Twenty thousand persons have been rendered homeless. The loss of life has also been great; 28 persons are supposed to have perished in the flames, and 20 persons were drowned in trying to make their escape by sea from the burning place.

DEATH FROM BURNS.—A Coroner's inquest was held on Saturday last at Nowrojee Hill on view of the body of Mohonee, girl, aged fourteen years, who died from burns which she sustined on the 26th January last by her clothes having accidentally caught fire. Shaik Syud bin Abdulla is said to have come here for the benefit of his eye-sight which has been affected for the last six months.

REFUSAL OF AN INSOLVENT SUIT.—At the High Court on Saturday last, Mr. Lang, instructed by Messrs. Rimington, Hore, Conroy, and Brown, on behalf of the defendants in the case of the Gujerat Spinning and Weaving Company against Girdhardas Daipatram and another, mentioned to Sir Charles Sargent that the case had been heard for about a fortnight before Mr. Justice Green, of whose judgment the parties had been deprived owing to his unfortunate severe illness. It was a very important case brought to recover Rs 53,300 alleged to be due to the plaintiffs on account of two calls made by the company; and with a view to save time and expense to both sides, it had been deemed advisable to request his Lordship to admit the notes of evidence taken by Mr. Justice Green and proceed to give judgment at as early a date as possible without putting the parties to the additional costs of a trial de novo. His Lordship said he merely took much whether the notes taken by Mr. Justice Green could fairly be used in order to obtain a judgment from another judge, and thought that the case should be heard again before another judge who would be nominated for the purpose as soon as possible.

FIRST CRIMINAL SESSIONS.

THE first Criminal Sessions of the High Court for this year commences to-day under the presidency of the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Marriott. The calendar of cases committed by the presidency magistrates is numerically the lightest ever known in the criminal annals of Bombay. There are only four cases committed for trial, in which are implicated nine prisoners, six of whom are Hindus, two Mahomedans, and one Native-Christian. There is one case of the murder of a Seedee, one of voluntarily causing hurt to constrain to do an illegal act, one of causing hurt by means of poison, and one of causing miscarriage. Two of the cases have been committed by Mr. Webb, one by Mr. Nana Morojee, and one by Mr. Patrick Ryan.

A SUIT UPON A HOONDIE.

AT the High Court on Thursday last, Mr. Justice Marriott gave judgment in the case of Ganeshdas Jairamdas against Premjee Ludha and others. The suit was brought to recover Rs. 1,200 upon a hoondie accepted by the defendants, together with Rs. 23 for expenses connected with the dishonoring of the hoondie, and interest from 20th January 1879 up to date of judgment in respect of the claim. Mr. Farran and Mr. Lang, instructed by Mr. Khunderao Morojee, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Gill and Mr. Jardine, instructed by Messrs. Chalk and Walker, for the defendants.

Prior to 20th January, 1879, the defendants at Bombay accepted a hoondie purporting to have been drawn by Narayendas Hunmuntram at Bihanee on the 27th November, 1878, requiring the defendants to pay to Dalaram Amichund or bearer, 51 days after date, Rs. 1,200. It was duly presented for payment by the Bank of Bengal, the holders at the time, but being dishonored, the Bank caused it to be protested on the 20th January 1879. Narayendas Hunmuntram subsequently paid the amount to the holder and received back the hoondie. On the 18th February, 1879, he sold it to plaintiff, who became the legal holder and demanded payment with interest and notarial charges, but the defendants had not yet paid any part of the claim. The defendants, in their written statement, said that by the hoondie the drawers were instructed to debit the amount of it to the account of Amichund Dhondiram of Ahmednuggur, and agent and constituent of defendants, on whose behalf they were in the habit of giving hoondies in respect of goods which the consignors defendants, and which the latter sold on his account. They said they accepted it on the understanding that the goods, in respect of which it was drawn, would reach them before the due date. In December, 1878, Amichund wrote to them not to accept or pay the hoondie until the goods reached Bombay. The goods, however, never reached the defendants, who had received no consideration for the acceptance; and they urged that it was only an accommodation acceptance. They further urged that the hoondie having been paid by the maker of it, they were discharged of all liability in respect of it. Upon a consideration of the whole case and the authorities cited, his Lordship held that the defendants were not discharged of their liability as acceptors, and gave a decree for the plaintiff for Rs. 1,223, with interest at 9 per cent. per annum from 20th January, 1879, costs, and interest on the judgment at 6 per cent.

THE NEW PRINCE OF WALES SPINNING AND WEAVING COMPANY, LIMITED.

THE first ordinary general meeting of the shareholders of the above company was held on Saturday last at the registered office of the company, No. 34, Elphinstone Circle, Fort, at which Mr. M. R. DeQuadros, the chairman of the board of directors presided.

The following report of the directors was then read by the chairman:—

The directors have much pleasure in meeting the shareholders and laying before them the accounts of the year's transactions made up to 31st August last.

The year under review, as you are aware, has been an exceptionally unfavourable one for cotton industry in India, and your directors have had to contend with many unforeseen difficulties owing to the famine of past years and consequent decrease in the power of consumption, dearness of cotton and low rates prevalent for cloth and yarn.

Another unforeseen event was the failure of Nurcey Kessowjee and Co., and closing of a large number of mills, in consequence of which the credit which mills enjoyed for years in Bombay was entirely lost, and both bankers and depositors became anxious for their money and would not renew their deposits or loans, and as your mill was started with insufficient capital, it was at one time greatly feared that it would have had to go into liquidation, but it was saved from the fate which overtook many like concerns by the energy and exertions of your directors as well as agents, and more particularly of the secretary of the company. Your directors, as you know, obtained at a heavy sacrifice a large loan from Sir Mungouldass Nathoobhoy, Kt., C.S.I., and others, which enabled them to satisfy creditors, and keep the mill going. The agents of the company have also on their part cheerfully agreed to give up half of their commission towards meeting the heavy rate of interest payable to Sir Mungouldass Nathoobhoy. It will be seen from the accounts that compromises were effected with a large number of creditors, thus benefitting the company by more than a lakh of rupees after meeting heavy charges for brokerage and commission incurred in arranging loans and effecting compromises and which could not have been avoided.

Your directors regret to inform you that owing to the unsatisfactory working of the old boilers called the Root Patent Boilers which consumed much coal and stores, besides causing frequent interruption in the working of the mill, they thought it desirable in your interest to condemn the old boilers and ordered out from England four new boilers in their stead, which have cost your company about Rs. 50,000, which amount has been placed to the debit of new machinery account. Some new frames were also purchased to improve the working of your mill and increase the production at a cost of about Rs. 3,000, and this also has been placed to new machinery account.

By the substitution of new boilers there has been a saving in the consumption of coals to the extent of 1½ to 2 tons per day, and the boilers now work efficiently.

Your directors are pleased to inform you that the mill has been working to a profit since 1st September last, after paying all charges and interest on loans, and the future prospects of the company are on the whole encouraging. The shares of your company which were at one time unsaleable are now gradually rising in value, and should present prices for yarn and cloth be maintained, and cotton give way in value when the new crop commences freely to arrive as is generally expected, we hope to be able to present you with a satisfactory balance sheet when we next meet.

In accordance with clause 84 of the articles of association, all the directors retire from office, but they are eligible for re-election.

The auditors will also have to be appointed for the next year, and their remuneration fixed."

The following resolutions were then adopted and carried unanimously.

Proposed by the chairman, and seconded by Mr. Parbut Ludha, "That the directors' report now read and the audited balance sheet of the company's account for the year ending 31st August, 1879, which have already been printed and circulated to the shareholders, be and are hereby adopted."

Proposed by Mr. Motiram Bhugoobhoy, and seconded by Mr. Canjee Parbut, "That Messrs. M. R. DeQuadros, Chellabhoy Pudumsey, Cowasedass Vurajdass, Morarjee Tooleeram, and Dewjee Parbut be re-elected directors for the ensuing year."

Proposed by Mr. Nusserwanjee Furdonjee, and seconded by Mr. Cullianjee Khetsey, "That Messrs. Burjorjee Manchersjee and Moteeram Bhugoobhoy be elected auditors of the company for the ensuing year and their remuneration be Rs. 200 each."

Proposed by Mr. Parbut Ludha, and seconded by Mr. Dewjee Nagsey, "That the best thanks of the shareholders are due to the directors and the secretaries and treasurers for their able management of the affairs of the company during the past year."

A vote of thanks was then tendered to the chairman when the meeting terminated.

THE INSOLVENCY OF MESSRS. FINLAY, SCOTT & CO.

THE hearing of this case was continued before Mr. Justice Bayley Friday last, being the eighth day of the enquiry. Mr. Pigot and Mr. Russell, instructed by Messrs. Prescot and Winter, appeared for the opposing creditors, the Bank of Bengal; and Mr. Macpherson and Mr. Lang, instructed by Messrs. Crisigie, Lyon, and Owen, for the insolvents.

Mr. Walter Lang was recalled and further cross-examined by Mr. Pigot.—Before the railway block, bills were drawn at Nagpore and sent to Bombay without railway receipts accompanying them. Before the block, the bills cashed at Nagpore were, as a rule, represented by produce. I cannot say they always were. The proceeds of bills were, as a rule, invested in produce, but I cannot say they always were. I cannot mention any particular instance in which bills cashed at Nagpore were not represented by produce. I heard Mr. Arbuthnot say yesterday that until November, 1878, he never received instructions from Finlay, Scott and Co. to cash their bills without railway receipts. I consider that answer of Mr. Arbuthnot an evasive one. Before the railway block, I did give Mr. Arbuthnot instructions to cash bills without railway receipts. I did that on all occasions when the credits were sent up, without any mention of railway receipts. I don't remember giving Mr. Arbuthnot instructions to cash bills and not to take railway receipts. I cannot remember any instance in which I did so. The block began, I believe, about March or April 1877. In the early time of the block, bills were cashed to us without railway receipts accompanying them. They were presented at the same time that they were received here. [Is referred to a letter of 3rd April 1877 from Finlay, Scott and Co. to Horrockses, Ewin and Co.] I do not know any particular practice. I don't think it was contrary to the practice that bills should come unaccompanied by railway receipts. I recollect that, during the block, I arranged with the Bank that the Bank should hold a lien on our goods at Nagpore until the railway receipts were given. I don't think that was the cause of the Bank requiring railway receipts to accompany the bills. The object of the lien was to secure the Bank by produce in respect of bills which were not accompanied by railway receipts. It was always intended that the Bank should be secured by produce; but it only refers to the period of the lien. It was not the understanding between ourselves and the Bank that the bills cashed should be represented by produce. I don't know of any such understanding. It is not the case that our credits with the branch at Nagpore were arran

BEST QUALITY TRIPLE ELECTRO-PLATE.
MANUFACTURED TO THE SPECIAL ORDER OF

C. MARCKS AND COMPANY,

BOMBAY, 4, Hummum Street. POONA, 1, East Street.

WE long hesitated before undertaking this important branch of business, as we are aware of the immense amount of inferior articles manufactured and sold as the best quality (Electro-plate having so many qualities) by unscrupulous traders and eventually giving no satisfaction to purchasers.
After mature deliberation we have had a large quantity made expressly for us by a leading firm, and as our goods are triple-plated (i. e., have undergone the silvering process THREE TIMES), thereby ensuring a heavy coating of PURE SILVER on superior hard white metal), we can guarantee them to stand ordinary usage for twenty years.
We specially invite the attention of Presidents of Clubs, Hotels, &c., &c., to our stock of goods. Amongst others we recommend the following:—
